

MATHEMATICAL CREATIVITY IN PRIMARY SCHOOL MATHEMATICS

Mihajlovic A., Vulovic N., Egeric M.

Faculty of Education in Jagodina, Milana Mijalkovica 14, Jagodina, 35000, Serbia, +38162497903, aleksandra.mihajlovic@gmail.com

Creativity has an important role in mathematics as science. However, very little attention is given to developing and fostering creativity in mathematics as a school subject. In this paper we deal with some important aspects of mathematical creativity and different ways of fostering it. Relationship between mathematical creativity, success in mathematics and IQ in early grades of primary school is also described.

References

1. Dejic M., Cebic S., Mihajlovic A. Matematička darovitost i kreativnost. – Pančevo: Regionalni centar za talente „Mihajlo Pupin“, year 2009. NN 230.
2. Sriraman B. The Characteristics of Mathematical Creativity // The Mathematics Educator Vol. 14, No. 1, Year 2004. Pp. 19-34.
3. Brunkalla K. Hot to Increase Mathematical Creativity-An Experiment // The Montana Mathematics Enthusiast Vol. 6, No. 1&2, Year 2009. Pp. 257-266.
4. Haylock D. Recognizing Mathematical Creativity in Schoolchildren // ZDM Vol. 29, No. 3, Year 1997. Pp. 68-74.
5. Pehkonen E. The State-of-art in Mathematical Creativity // ZDM Vol. 29, No. 3, Year 1997. Pp. 63-67.